RAC Grants Raatz Fund To KWAR-FM

A memorial fund honoring Don Raatz will be used to purchase new equipment for campus radio station KWAR-FM. This was the unanimous decision reached by the Religious Activities committee at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

An applicator making a possible reception of the 'M broadcasts on AM sets and a new control board are the items to be acquired with the money from the fund saved into the Student Senate, amounts to still about $200 and represents the contributions of Wartburg students, St. Paul's congregation and other individual donors. It was agreed over to the Religious Activities committee with the Senate recommendation that it be used for a single definite purpose.

KWAR Does Not Solicit

Because many other solicitation programs emanate from the college, KWAR has been ordered not to solicit outside donations and is operating on a limited budget. Strong revealed. Thus the action making improvements that would otherwise be out of the question.

"The satellite will greatly improve the service of the station to the college and the community," Strong asserted. "Once equipped with the satellite, KWAR will be received on any standard AM set, within a two or three-block radius."

ACP Awards Tales First-Class Rating

First-class honor rating has been awarded to the 1952-53 editions of Castle Tales, student directory and issue, by the Associated Collegiate Press.

Edited by Ted Heinecken, present editor of the WARTBURG TRUMPET, the publication received the highest rating in the association's critique of magazine (not only 100 points of 1,000 in the All-American rating of criticism.

Ranking among the 18 top collegiate literary magazines in the nation, four All-American and 14 All-American ratings, Castle Tales collected 1,000 points in the five editorial standards and content balance departments.

Tryouts For Play To Be Held Thurs.

Tryouts for Philip King's "See How They Run," a three-act farce set in a vicarage in England, will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. and after chapel in the Little Theater, according to Charles Dresow in the speech department.

The play, which will be presented March 5, 6 and 7, includes roles for six men and three women.

Christmas Social Season Hits Campus

Dig Deep – Help Build The Union!

By Fred Gemmerman

Wrapped in tradition, Christmas at Wartburg will begin to unfold on campus next week with a multitude of seasonal programs, parties, spontaneous caroling sessions and countless decorations.

First major program on the extensive party schedule will be the all-school Christmas party sponsored by the senior class on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater. Feature of the evening will be a scavenger hunt through Waverly.

Neumann To Give Readings

Also featured is a round of carols and the annual visit by Santa Claus. Following tradition, Dr. G. J. Neumann, head of the English department, will entertain the audience with selected seasonal readings. Refreshments will be served.

On Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., the scene will shift to the stage of the Knights gymnasium, where the Wartburg Community Symphony orchestra, the Wartburg choir, Castle Singers and the Knights Chorale will combine to present a Christmas service of praise and adoration.

According to Ben Engelbrecht, program chairman, the elaborate set will establish a mystery atmosphere through which the various numbers are presented by the musical organizations of the campus.

Neumann

Chi Alfo will present its annual Christmas program in the gymnasium at 8 p.m., Dec. 19. As is customary, the program will include a candlelight service, carols and a party.

Statuette To Be Shown In Library Room Mon.

On display for the first time, a statuette of the Virgin and Child will be established in the reading room of the library beginning Monday, according to Miss Helen Wright of the art department.

This Christmas gift from the artist is dedicated to the college as a reproduction of a 14th-century French sculpture, and was purchased with fees charged for art services.

"Aria da Capo," a one-act play by Edna St. Vincent Millay, will be presented by Wartburg Players in the Little Theater during convocation Thursday, Dec. 17.

The campus itself will also be transformed with a variety of decorations sponsored by organizations and housing units.

According to Marjorie Roerts, chairman of the decorations committee, Waverly's annual window and door display is expected to be the largest and most elaborate program ever. Prizes, features of the high school Christmas parade, will be no contest in its recent years."

Hulme's Book Acclaimed, Selected For Lists

Reviews of Dr. William Hulme's book, "Face Your Life with Confidence" indicate that the recently published work by the college chaplain is meeting with favorable acceptance, according to Norm Fiesti, public relations head.

"Here is a book with some very practical values," said the Rev. Roy A. Burkhart, counselor from Colgate-Rochester, in his review in the December issue of Pastoral Psychology.

"It includes rich religious resources, fundamental psychiatric insights, and it is a magnificent portrayal of the relationship between leader and learner," he continued.

In addition to its selection as the book of the month by the Pastoral Psychology Book club and as alternate by the Concordia Book club, Dr. Hulme's book has also been selected as one of the "Big Ten" books in the religious recommended reading list for the Lutheran Layman literature project.

New Cheer Contest Opened By Senate

Open to all Wartburg clubs and individuals, a cheer contest has been announced by Student Senate to promote new yells for the increased interest.

Prizes will be awarded for the best cheer and the best song. Each will receive $5 and the individual winners will be singled.

Entries will be judged by the student body at a pep session to be held in the near future. Cheers and songs may be original, according to Deane Hutchison, junior senator.

Envisioning Wartburg As Political Power, Four Delegates Review NSA Conference

By Cy Weinrodt

Wartburg as a rising political power was being pictured by four students as they returned from the National Student association convention on the campus of Iowa State college, Ames, Nov. 29 and 30.

The delegation, led by Sid Curtis, student body vice-president and NSA coordinator, and including Del Hutton, sophomore, and Ruth Ann Hutchison, Dianne Hutchison and Doug Reyelts, sophomore senators, represented the Wartburg association at the meeting.

Hutchison was elected to the post of regional chairman in charge of student activities during the coming year.

The convention performed the double function of a student government training seminar and a national political meeting. The sessions included speeches by well-known politicians, press discussions and workshop projects.

Hutton

The workshop, according to Reyelts, proved to be the most valuable part of the meeting by making it possible "to talk with students from other schools and discuss solutions to our common problems."

Regents attended the workshop on "Student Government Projects" and Hutchison worked with "Student Government Administrative Techniques." Hutton took part in discussions concerning the number one problem of all student governments, "Combating Student Apathy," while Curtis delved into the technicalities and peculiarities of "Election Systems."

All four delegates took part in the political assemblies of the conventions, although under the terms of the convention only three were allowed to vote. Each caused equality with such large student bodies as the 10,000 at State University of Iowa, the delegation enthusiastically launched into the business of adopting a regional constitution and electing regional officers.

Curtis

Reyelts

"I only wish," said Curtis, "that we had been better prepared for those elections. With our present organization we could have gotten several more Wartburg people elected."

All the delegates were well satisfied with the meeting and said they had gained much that could be applied to the solution of problems on the campus. They all remarked that such meetings are important and that such an organization as the NSA is necessary.

"NSA will soon prove itself to be a very worthwhile thing for Wartburg," said Hutton to sum up the statements of the group. "But until it does and even after it does, we must work here on the campus to educate ourselves and carry on the work of NSA, so that Wartburg will prove itself good for the organization."

R. Larson To Offer Voice Recital Wed. in LT

C. Robert Larson, tenor and member of the music department, will present four groups of vocal numbers in a faculty recital Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. Accompanying him on the piano will be Miss Ruth Ann Hutchison.

Larson

Included in the program are two numbers by Arensky, "Will o' the Wisp" and "Serenade Tartare" by Schubert. "Das Wandern," "Wohin?," and "Der Neugierige" by Schubert.

Next on the program are two Italian pieces, "Amarilli" (Caccini) and "Vittoria Mio Core" (Carissimi). Two songs by Brahms, "Auf dem Kirchhofe" and "Sapphische Ode" precede the performance, followed by "Ich liebe dich" by Grieg.

"Aria de Salome" by Jules Massenet will be the second group will be sung in the second group will be sung in the original French.

Four selections in English will conclude the performance. Included in the second group will be four selections in English. "Sylvelin" by Sinding, "Never Told Her Love" by Haydn, "Ich grolle nicht" by Schumann and "Ecstasy" by Rubinstein.

Changing to songs of a lighter vein in the final group, Larson will sing one selection in English, beginning with Lehmann's "Mid Noon of My Delight," following with "But Lately in Dance I Encountered Her" by Arensky, "Will Sweet" by Duke, "Rain Has Fallen" by Barker, "The Crying of Water" by Campbell-Tipton and closing with "The Star" by Rogers.

Fintel Takes Trip; To Visit 3 States In Relations Work

Norma Fintel, Wartburg's director of public relations, left Monday for a trip which will take her to high schools during their senior day activities, meeting with students contemplating entering Wartburg next fall.

A trip to Chicago was scheduled for Friday. The main goal was the site of the combined Lutheran Layman's League and Lutheran Education conference on the secondary school interests of the American Lutheran church.

Sunday Miss Fintel will be a conductor journeyed to the Iowa State college campus for the meeting of the joint district conventions of the American College Public Relations association and the American Association of Colleges.

Fintel will join Tom Coleman, director of public relations at Iowa University of Nebraska, at Omaha for the meeting. Both schools have the largest public relations staff in their division department in a panel discussion on "Public Relations Organization and operation of public relations departments in colleges within universities."

What's Your Driving Attitude?

Previous to every holiday weekend, newspapers and radios come alive with gruesome forecasts and warnings of death—death that rides the comfortable and convenient rubber tires of an automobile. However, in spite of all the warnings, each holiday weekend still becomes shattered with the blood of between 360 and 400 fatalities.

At the present time, a nationwide contest on safe driving is being carried on among college newspapers sponsored by the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty company, the contest intended to educate and promote better college drivers.

Judging of college entries is divided into five divisions—the page as a whole, editorials, features, cartoons and photographs. Last year, Wartburg received honorable mention ratings for the paper as a whole and safe driving cartoon. This issue of the TRUMPET is the first of two directed toward the campaign.

What is your reaction to any statement that introduces a safe driving campaign? Do you think, "Safe driving. That's fine. I hope my roommate reads that. He should have gotten his driver's license on a punch-board."

Or is your reaction to the challenge of safer driving a personal and sometimes painful question, "Who, me?"

Here are the facts as you've heard, or even said to yourself, "They shouldn't let drivers like that on the road. He's endangering the public!"

No matter how true those words may be, the statement itself shows that the speaker should also look at his own driving methods and attitudes. The accident that is motored to his own actions and the actions of others is much to do with the accident rate and its causes.

Usually the man that looks so critically at others as the real culprit is principally responsible for the little mistakes that he frequently makes and gets away with. It does pay to watch the other driver, but don't become so far-sighted that you can't see yourself.

Take the personal test frequently and don't be afraid to let others judge your score. Be truthful in checking your own attitudes rather than on the road. Just because the law gives you the right-of-way doesn't mean you should force possession. Unless law is tempered with common courtesy and proper attitude, that law can become an abuse.

Therefore, in this current pre-Christmas safe-driving campaign, take what is said to heart and examine it in the light of your personal practices and attitudes. You can't help anyone else to learn if you don't know yourself—and the only way you can show that you know is by your actions.

It may hurt your pride to answer the "Who, me?" affirmatively—but it may also keep you alive. Make your choice.

—PHG

Behind The WAILS

By Shirley Cords

Cords

Always a question in my mind, always a question, but I must ask. With just a little strolling I can remember my pre-freshman days, when I still trembled with anticipation at my every attribute, and when no one in South Dakota had any idea what and where Wartburg was. Well, they still don't, but at that days (and I can prove it) which was enclosed a 70-page questionnaire on just me.

Also I easily remember running hither and yon getting transcripts, autographed, and references referred. Now this leads me to believe that students here must be full of at least normal intelligence, or at least extreme perseverance. So what I would like to ask is this:

Why, oh, why, did some considerate individual think it necessary to write a story on Cecelia well saying, "Do not stand in the rain. . . ." Just at the risk of making a wild statement, I should think that most college students know enough to get in out of the rain!

Quite a humorous observation by a local student here on Wartburg college campus . . . Hmmm. Pending must be a pretty popular town. Wonder what makes it's—I see the choir is giving two concerts there.

(I just noticed they're staying over in a suburb too—Afternoon Pending).

Third floor women all joined a new club the other night. Some of the girls have been experimenting—bought it to variegate the social life this week. Every week one room has to furnish entertainment—maybe a movie, maybe a musical fad, food, sewing del'd classes, collecting for Student Body project—just a lot of good, wholesome fun!

The club did, as noted the "Bull" club, and every member has a hoof print stamped on her forehead to signify membership.

STAFF SQUEAKS

Wartburg's Week

TRUE REALISM Dr. Edwin Sandberg's freshmen English class, with the assistance of making attendance speeches, is making plans to hold its first conditioning classes in the cafeteria.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS to the entire Schwan Hall group when they gave chapel speech the professor can't classify. Seems the girls' dulcet tones were German Lieder but no organ accompaniment, yet.

IT'S QUITE EVIDENT that four members' room over the fourth floor standard but must be judged by a group of exceptions. However, when we have lightning, thunder and rain, I don't even open my eyes until these members are in the quiet atmosphere of Wartburg hall's basement.

Footnotes To Faith:

We Must Be True Slaves To God

By Ray Martin
Greek Department

The idea that we are slaves of God and of Christ is not a very popular one in our day. This conception, however, is more common in the New Testament than it is originally evident in the English Bible. This is because in the most familiar and vivid terms in the Bible the word "slave" has been translated usually by the word "servant."

Martin

This is true even of the RSV, which does at times, as in Matt. 20:27, use "slave" but in many instances uses the word "servant" and gives the more correct translation in a footnote (for example Rom. 6:6, Rom. 7:6, Gal. 4:24). For more instances, however, even the RSV has not given the correct translation as in Luke 2:29 and Luke 17:7-10.

Given if the Bible had not used the specific word "slave" in describing our relation to our God, it does indicate beyond all doubt that we belong to God as completely as any slave belongs to his master.

Not only has God made us and by virtue of that fact do we belong to Him, but in the steeling fight of faith we are told that we are bought and paid for by the blood of Christ. Paul, who had formerly considered himself a free man, now considered himself as a slave to Christ. (I Cor. 7:22). In a very real sense Christians are God's; we are slaves of God—He lives in them by the will of our own but to do His will in all things.

Our complete obligation to God is the aspect of slavery which the Bible emphasizes. The bad we does not meet we are to be cringing and fearful, but as a faithful, devoted and cruel master.

Finally, to be slaves of God in the Biblical sense means that all we are and have and do is God's and belongs rightfully to Him. If people ever have no real claim to anything we are accustomed to call our own—except our sin.

It is only as we fully appreciate our obligation to God that we does understand His Grace. In one of Christ's most interesting and accessed parables (Luke 17:7-10), Jesus explains how essential it is that we understand our relationship to God properly.

He concludes that parable, "When you have done everything which has been commanded, say 'we are useless slaves; we have done only what we were obligated to do."

In the light of this, you and I can never demand anything of God. Any good thing we have in life, whether for body or soul, is a gift of His grace, is completely undeserved. Thus our attention should cause our hearts to overflow with gratitude to give thanks into the Lord, for He is good; for his mercy endureth forever.

Voice Of The Campus

Dear Editor:

At our last meeting on Monday, Nov. 30, we discussed at great length your editorial of Nov. 20, 7 entitled "Students Show Lack of Social Learning." We wish to take this opportunity to congratulate you on writing such a topic and to express our complete agreement with your point of view.

A letter which agrees with the editor is something of a rarity—but we hope it will serve a definite purpose. We hope it will prove to the student body that many of us, not just an editorial staff, feel that we are lacking in good old-fashioned courtesy.

We have made definite plans to begin soon with a campaign to improve social conditions here on campus. We hope that you, Mr. Editor, will aid us in this campaign and will continue to perform a useful service by pointing out ills which we may all work to remedy.

Sincerely,
The Student Senate

Cagers Seek No. 3 In Nebraska Tonight

By Olek Lysch

The undefeated Knight cagers go after their third win of the season tonight against another out-of-state club, Nebraska Wesleyan university of Lincoln, Neb.

On Tuesday the Axmen continue their traveling west as Cedar Falls, Iowa, hosts the State Teachers colleges. They return home on Friday to host Simpson's Redmen in the Knights gym.

Tonight's game will be played at nearby Seward, Neb., in the high school gym, since a new Auditorium-Field House hasn't been completed as anticipated and no other gym in Lincoln is available.

Coach Ax Bundgaard and a squad of 10 men left yesterday for Des Moines and spent the night there, moving on to Seward today. The Knights will return tomorrow after attending church services in Treynor.

Barnhart

The boat Plainsmen, who sought an impressive 23-8 record last year and worked to the quarterfinals of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament, have a major rebuilding job to perform in readying for Wartburg. Only two veterans, Jim Lightbody and Scotty Holmberg, are on hand from last year's crack outfit.

In his early stint as the mentor of the Plainsmen, Coach Bundgaard has a squad of 10 boys, one of whom, Jim Barnhart, is a veteran. Jim Lightbody and Scotty Holmberg, are on hand from last year's crack outfit.

Bundgaard is still uncertain about who will get the starting nod at the guard spots, but Bob Affit will be in the pivot and Barry Bornhold, whose fine play was a highlight of the Augsburg victory, and veteran Ken Rowold will start at forwards.

5 Lettermen Will Bolster Mat Squad

Coach Norm Johansen has five lettermen returning from last year's squad to top the list of 14 out for the grappling sport this season. A two-week schedule faces the group that captured second in the Iowa conference meet last year.

The five returning monogram winners are Ray Hickman, Bob Bjorkman, Norm Johansen, Johnson, Lowell Bjorkman, Ray Lund, Bob Grendahl, Johnnie Norris.

Others out for the grunt-and-groan sport include Howard Seiler, Reuben Schmidt, junior; Fred Hermann, Ron Vargil, sophomores, and Roger Aries, Chuck Hubel, Fred Schultz, Wayne Shaw and Jim Woodrow, freshmen.

Following is the season's wrestling schedule, with the conference meet tentatively set to be held at Wartburg March 6.

What is it that makes a team win an athletic contest, or for that matter, lose one?

I suppose everyone has his own opinion on the matter, so I might as well toss in my own. For it seems that lately Wartburg teams of all sorts have set it for themselves to lose.

I don't want to be hypercritical—ever since the two Wartburgs combined almost 50 years ago a lot of work has been put into building the school spirit of Wartburg athletic contests—but I feel that it is preferable that that our efforts in intercollegiate competition have been predominantly defensive.

Since 1935 Wartburg teams as a whole have collected 316 wins against 316 losses—not counting ties—and 5 of the latter. Incidentally, this a average out to a .422 percentage.

But in reviewing this mediocre record has been pulling itself out of the doldrums. Basketball used to be a thing you only whispered about in Wartburg—even in the days when Knight cagers piled up something like 36 consecutive conference losses. Today the Axmen are considered one of the better small college teams in Iowa.

The same is becoming more and more a truth in almost every phase of the sports program here. But let's get back to the original question—why?

Perhaps the most obvious reason is the fact that the college has grown so that more boys are available, are consistently more athletic, and often conquer schools with perhaps twice our enrollment.

My own explanation is that there's something beyond statistics and enrollment that causes a winning season—there's an intangible substance that people refer to as "esprit de corps" or "school spirit." It may sound trite, but it has a lot to do in winning ball games.

Not that examples of the lack of this spirit—even a spirited diehardism has trouble whipping a Great Dane. But this year Knight sports have had a second wind in unusual quantity of team cooperation and—yes, spirit.

We won a divisional crown with a green, inexperienced football squad. And the basketball team seems to be headed for even greater heights, although preseason prospects were anything but bright.

But maybe I'm getting a bit preachy. Well, I think it's a pretty safe perch—as long as we continue to place teams in competition, and not groups of individuals.

Axmen Sweep Past Auggies, St. Mary's

By Ken Sterck

A blistering offensive attack good for 40 points in the final stanza spurred the Knight boosters to a 69-59 victory over Augsburg Tuesday evening in the Minnesota Armory.

It was the local floopsters second straight victory in as many starts in the young cage season. The Auggies were the same St. Mary's quintet who fell 59-24 in the Knights gymnasium.

The contest with the Auggies was a nip-and-tuck affair until the last period, with the winners attaining the prize spot on the way, 34-31 at the halftime. The Knights nursed a slim six-point lead.

The Axmen scored only two more baskets from the field in the final stanza than they did in the first three quarters combined, but 25 charity tosses, eight coming in the explosive fourth quarter.

Playing a rather slow, deliberate style of ball, the Knight quintet meshed 23 per cent of its shots from the field as compared to the losers' 29 per cent.

Four Gridders Awarded North Division Berths

Wartburg, north division champs of the Iowa conference, placed four players on the mythical All-Conference football team, released by the Associated Press this week.

Leading the parade of Ted Frischetel and Woody Liemohn, along with Ken Rowold, Bob Affeldt and Chuck Steinman, earned recognition for the Knights.

Others picked for the honor team by the coaches include Roger Parrott, end from Buena Vista; Charles Eagen, tackle from Lee and Bob Pederson, guards; Kurt Finunger and Dave Kenyon, backs, all from Luther, and Randy Harvey, Upper Iowa back.

O-C, Grossmann Squads Take Early Cage Leads

Off campus and Grossmann cagers grabbed early leads in the intramural basketball league Monday night in Knights gymnasium.

Meyer's Kewkard set the Pup scent, 24-16, and Wuebbens dumped Grossmann, 19-18, to share the lead as the National loop. Divisional top-dog Waverly Inn Association division are Grossmann III, which defeated the Wolf Pack, 21-23, Grossmann I, which overcame the Aquanauts, 29-22, and the Waverly quintet, which dropped Grossmann II, 27-26.

Other National results: Shea's Sharpshooters downed the Pups, 20-19, and the Chicadees over Rogers, 30-8. On Tuesday a pair of American loop action was the Rock Yard Steelers' 39-32 decision over Hagen.

Fritschel, Reasland Picked Co-Captains

Ted Fritschel and Roy Reasland were recently elected as honorary co-captains for the 1953 football team, according to the announcement made by Coach Norm Johansen.

Reasland sparked the team from the guard spot while Fritschel led the Knights from the quarterback position. both men completed their last season in Orange and Black tags.

Ten Years Old, Wartburg Film Service Makes Visual Aids Available To Members

By B. F. Mirtz

Established 10 years ago with only six films, the Wartburg Film service has since expanded to an incorporated business with 350 sound films and a current turnover of $15,000. The service is maintained by Mrs. John Hiltner and Prof. W. W. Sweigard, all in the publishers building.

Set up in 1943 by several pastors to plan local area workshops for their congregations, the film library was incorporated into the Wartburg Film service. Membership is open to anyone with an application fee a fee of $2.50.

Upon membership is scattered throughout the U.S. and extends into Canada, stated Mrs. Hiltner.

Films Leased And Rented

Sound films are leased mainly from Concordia, Cathedral, Family and Church Film Services and others are rented out. Everything in the line of religious film topics is handled, but is usually only for sale.

"We almost have an interchangeable business," commented Mrs. Hiltner. "We sold some film strips to the groups we had leased them to and a missionary took some strips to Africa."

Although Mrs. Hiltner's and Mrs. Sweigard's main interest is clerical they also sell the film strips and some of the sound films.

Service Produces Strip

One of the outstanding successes of the film service was a work in helping to produce the film strip, "Christmas Around the Christmas." The idea originated within the service and a special committee drew up the script which produced the film with the aid of several Lutheran church bodies.

It's surprising that the organization could have grown so much in such a short time, but it does as the workshop branches become more toward wider use of visual aids," Mrs. Hiltner concluded.

'Messiah' Excerpts To Be Given Sun.

Excerpts from Handel's "Messiah" will be presented by the Waverly community choral group in the Waverly-Shell Rock high school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m., with Dr. Ann Guy, Waverly band director, as conductor.

Haven

Participating with the group are approximately 60 students from Wartburg. Soloists are Mrs. C. R. Gillaspie, soprano; Jean Haven, contralto; D. Robert Carlson, tenor, and Robert Carlson, bass. Accompanists for the chorus will be furnished by Judy Hansen, sophomore, at the piano and Virginia Carlson, sophomore, at the organ.

Class Studies Sound, Studia To Be Changed

Radio techniques class under Charles Backer, speech department, is in the process of testing the length of the vibration of sound and the isolation of sound from the outside.

The radio studio will then be soundproofed by hanging heavy drapes and building a soundproof passageway into the studio.
